

Introduction to the Cloud, Security and CSA Star Certification

What is it?

Increasing numbers of organizations recognize the benefits of outsourcing all or part of their information technology needs to cloud service providers (CSPs). Many CSPs will hold ISO/IEC certification, but does this go far enough for your cloud security needs? The Cloud Security Alliance (CSA), in conjunction with BSI, has developed the CSA STAR Certification scheme for cloud service providers.

Why do I need it and who should attend?

This one day course will provide an insight into the fundamentals of cloud computing and its advantages and disadvantages. It will also provide an insight into how CSA Star certification can help you decide whether to outsource your services to a CSP, by giving you confidence that they have been independently assessed by an external certification body. This course is ideal for those responsible for implementing and managing cloud services within their organization, or those with information security job roles.

How will my organization benefit?

This training will teach your organization:

- An overview of the cloud and cloud services
- The need for adequate security when using cloud services
- How the CCM can be used to assess cloud security compliance and robustness of your cloud security operations
- The role of ISO/IEC 27001 certification in CSA Star certification
- How CSA Star certification can provide confidence to your clients

What will I learn?

As a result of attending, you will be able to:

- Understand the different cloud services available to organizations
- Recognize the potential risks of using cloud services
- Who are the CSA and what is the Cloud Controls Matrix (CCM)
- Understand the different cloud services available to organizations
