

ISO Revisions
Latest update

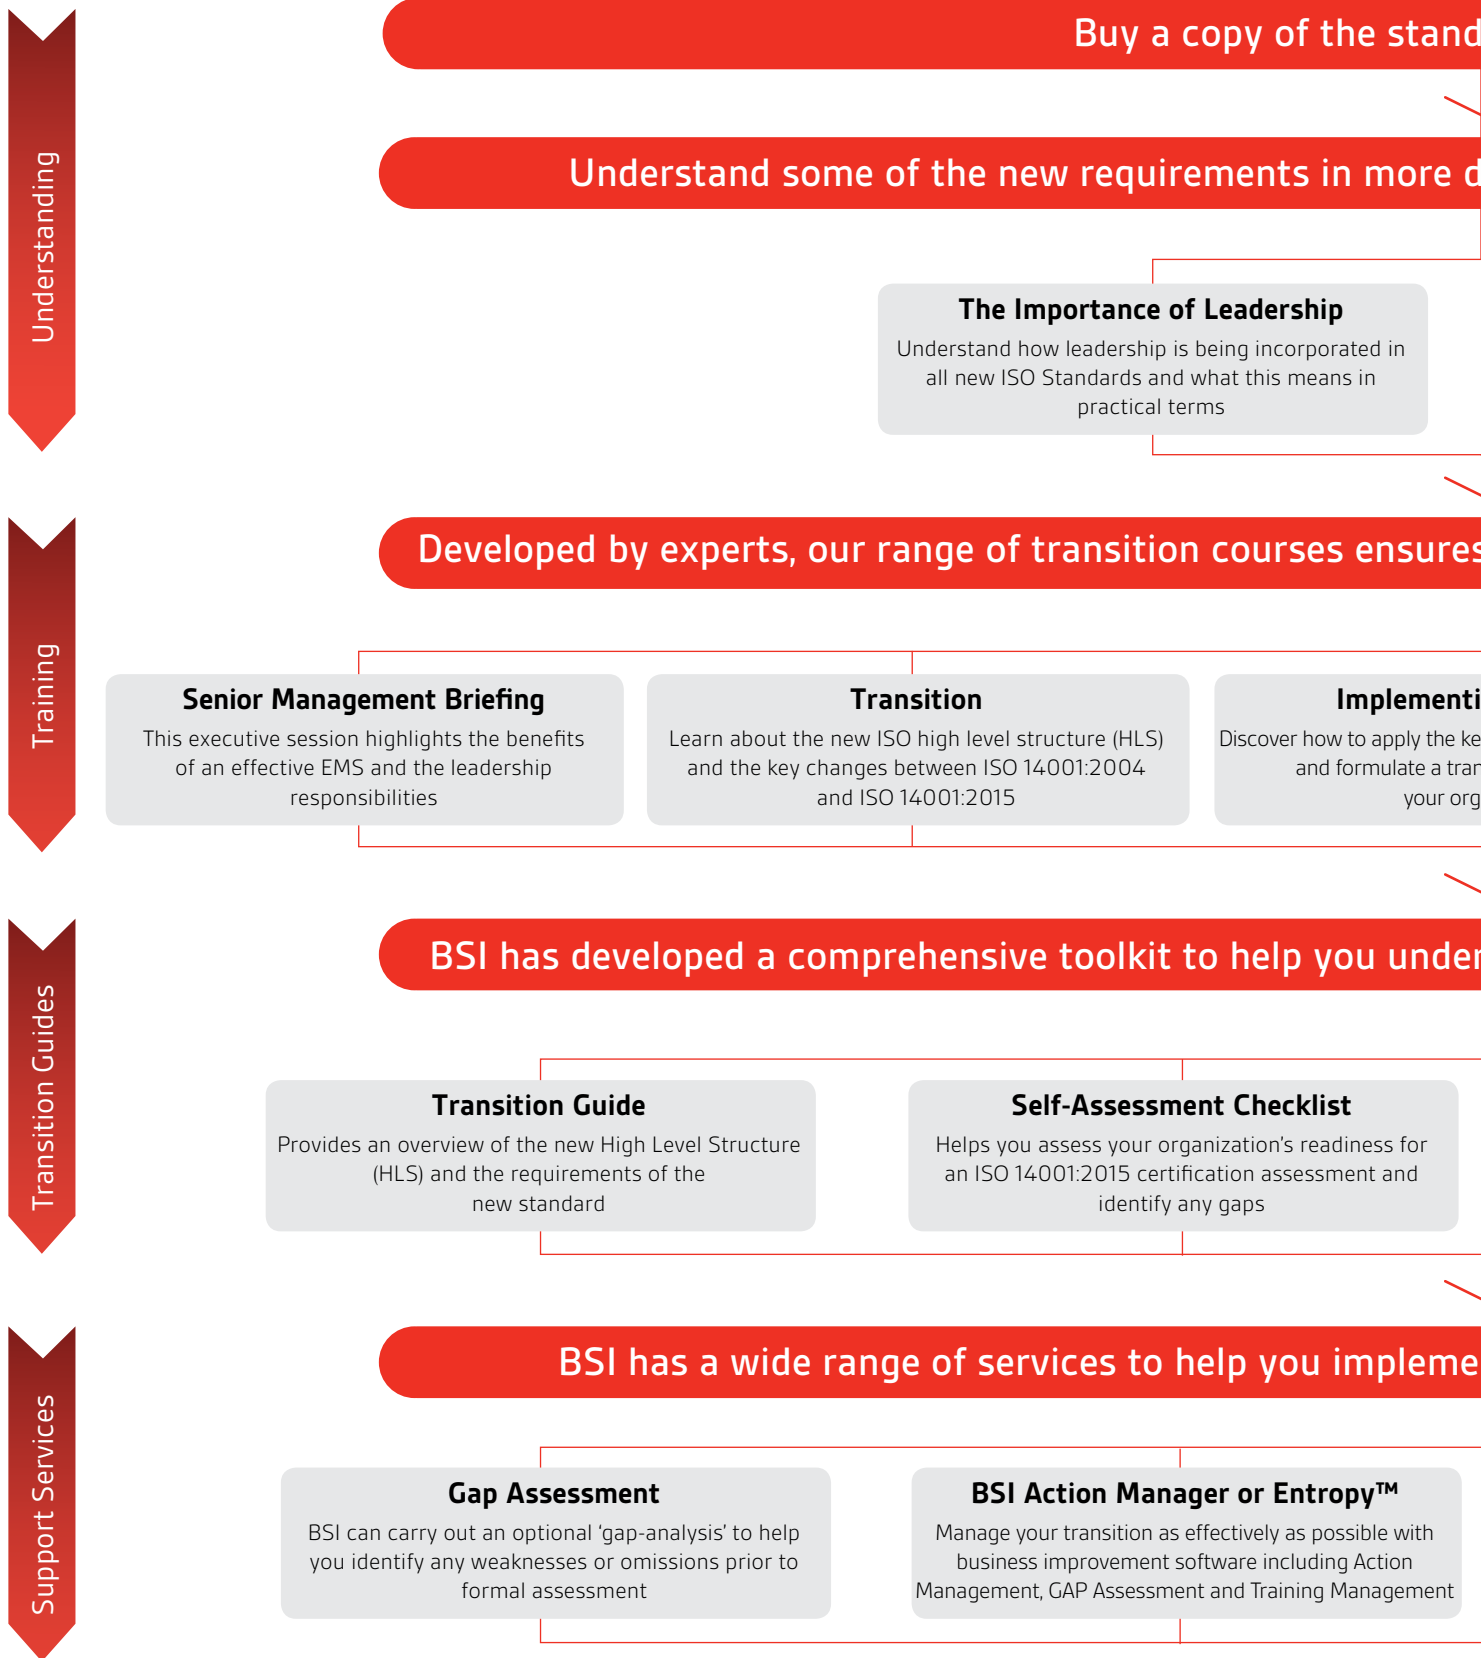

> The new ISO 14001
BSI's Best Practice Transition Journey

bsi.

...making excellence a habit.™

ISO 14001:2015 Best Practice Journey from Revision to ISO 14001, the internationally recognized standard for environmental is being revised to ensure that it maintains its relevance interactions every year, BSI knows the best practice way of transitioning to a new standard smoothly. Our comprehensive suite step of the way .

Transition

in today's market place and in the future. Through our experience of developing standards and managing thousands of client e of training and support material has been structured to guide you and your organization through the revision process, every ard as soon as possible

etail, visit the BSI website for the latest whitepapers

Process versus procedures

Understand the difference between a process and a procedures approach and how this relates to the new High Level Structure

Do you fully understand the changes and the core requirements

Key Changes

Key changes to ISO 14001:2015
Transition action plan for organization

Auditor Transition

Combined with the transition course, you'll not only learn about ISO 14001:2015 but also build up your auditing skills

Deep Dive

Exploring in greater detail the 4 critical areas of the new standard; Process Approach, Risk-based Thinking, External Provision and Leadership

Understand the changes and implement them in your organization

Mapping Guide

An overview of the changes, deletions, new or enhanced requirements between ISO 14001:2004 and the FDIS ISO 14001

Internal Communications Pack

To help you communicate the changes and new requirements within your organization including leadership briefing and presentation

Monitor the changes and understand how well you're doing

Certification to ISO FDIS 14001:2015

BSI will offer unaccredited certification against the FDIS when published around April 2015 for clients who want to transition early

Transition Assessment

You will be able to transition to the new standard once it is published, ensuring that you quickly benefit from the new standard

➤ 5 Key Steps for a Successful Transition

Don't delay – start working on your transition today

- 1 Talk to your BSI Client Manager
 - Discuss your challenges and timelines
 - Review the latest videos and whitepapers on the BSI website for background information
- 2 Attend BSI's Training programme
 - Understand the new requirements faster and in greater detail by attending our training courses; from introduction through to deep dive modules which explain the new areas in greater depth.
- 3 Communicate with your organization
 - Talk to your leadership team about the new requirements
 - Communicate the revision to your wider organization to gain buy in
 - Send regular updates on progress
- 4 Set up an Internal Project Team
 - Download BSI's transition toolkit which will guide you through the transition
 - Conduct a GAP analysis against your current system
 - Create an implementation plan and monitor progress
 - Take a fresh look at your EMS
 - Implement the new requirements on leadership, risk, external provision and context of the organization
 - Change your documentation to reflect the new structure
- 5 Gap Assessment/Transition Assessment
 - BSI can conduct a gap assessment to help you identify any weaknesses prior to formal assessment
 - Consider an early assessment against the FDIS
 - Transition assessments to the new standard will be available once it has been published.

➤ ISO 14001:2015 Transition Timeline

