At BSI we understand that having the knowledge to effectively implement and operate your business continuity management system is key.

By taking a company-wide view of business continuity you can protect your organization from unexpected threats and give your business a competitive edge. ISO 22301 from BSI is a great framework to help you do just that.

ISO 22301 is the international standard which specifies the requirements for a business continuity management system. It helps you to identify potential threats to your business and build the capacity to deal with unforeseen events.
