

ISO 22301 Business Continuity Management Systems Lead Auditor

What is it?

ISO 22301 business continuity management outlines ways to prepare your business for the most challenging circumstances – minimizing downtime and maximizing recovery time. An effective business continuity management system needs to be regularly monitored, or audited. This course will enable you to take on the responsibility for leading audits. This is your next step towards having full control of ISO 22301 audits.

Why do I need it?

Audits are critical to continually improving your ISO 22301 business continuity management system. They help you maintain compliance with the standard and protect your business operations from the threats most likely to impact your organization. Both internal and third party audits allow experts to assess your business continuity framework. And their findings help you identify existing or potential threats, giving you confidence to prepare effectively for challenging circumstances.

How will I benefit?

Understanding the scope of the ISO 22301 standard can help you manage your business during times of crisis. A business continuity management system allows you to identify potential risks and the areas of your organization most likely to be impacted. You will also discover which operations are critical and how to protect these ahead of disruption, building customer, supplier and employee trust in your organization's future.

What will I learn?

This five-day course will consolidate your knowledge of ISO 22301 and help you to audit to the standard's requirements. You will learn to plan, conduct and report an audit, identifying critical business operations and how to protect them from likely threats. Discover how to stay up-to-date with business continuity best practice and become confident managing teams of auditors in your organization or during a third party audit.
