

Road Traffic Safety Management

Introduction to ISO 39001 Road Traffic Safety

What is it?

ISO 39001 is the international standard for road traffic safety management. Governments, road authorities, safety groups and private companies all called for the standard due to the rising number of people killed or injured on the road each year. It provides guidance on how to create a safer approach to managing road traffic – aiming to help reduce the number of road traffic accidents.

Why do I need it?

ISO 39001 outlines the requirements for a road traffic safety management, taking into account all elements of a road traffic system. This includes policies, reporting, planning guidance and legal compliance. ISO 39001 will outline best practice that allows you to achieve more efficient and cost effective safety management. The course is recommended for all organizations involved with road traffic systems. It is also relevant to companies that own and operate a large number of vehicles, such as passenger or fleet services.

How will I benefit?

An ISO 39001 Road Traffic Safety Management System will help you to meet organizational safety and social responsibility targets. And as one of the first companies to implement and certify to ISO 39001 you can show stakeholders that you take these targets seriously. Plus, the standard outlines ways to improve efficiency with a more cost effective management system.
