

BSI PAS 1018 Cold Chain Seminar 2017

Recent years have seen a growth in demand for online frozen & chilled food shopping business. The Food and Environmental Hygiene Department (FEHD) have started to implement the registration scheme for online food shops and also bring food safety concern with these online food companies, which are covering food tractability, receiving, storage and preparation and delivery problems.

With this situation, BSI Group based on the request of Yamato Holdings Co., Ltd, gathered twenty one different food brand companies, universities, logistic associations to create and issue PAS 1018:2017 (hereafter "PAS 1018") for refrigerated & chilled parcel delivery services on February 28, 2017. PAS 1018 became the world's first international standard on cold chain management and expect it will be transformed into ISO international standards in year 2020.

Furthermore, BSI provides PAS 1018 certification service for the online food shop to recognize their cold chain management performance, it helps organizations building trust and confidence into the market.

This seminar allows us sharing PAS 1018's requirement on minimizing risk and addressing the public concerns about the best practice on cold chain management system.
