

BSI Training Academy

AS/EN/JISQ 9100:2016 Senior Management

Transition briefing

Level

Essential information about the course

The 9100 series of standards (9100, 9110 and 9120), the globally recognized quality management series of standards for the aerospace sector, is changing. Organizations currently certified will need to transition to the new versions by 14 September 2018.

As a leader, your support is crucial to the success of your organization's transition. That's why we have developed our new two-hour Senior Management Transition briefing which will help top managers identify and manage their responsibilities with regards to the new standard.

The course is fully interactive and led by our expert tutors who have years of experience in the aerospace industry. It will give you the confidence to understand the key elements of the new standard so that your organization can plan a smooth and effective transition.

"The course was very informative and enjoyable and I can't recommend the BSI trainer enough as a tutor and an AS 9100 expert."

iPRO Solutions Ltd (UK based Global Sourcing and Manufacturing Solutions provider)
