Frequently Asked Questions about switching

How long does it take?

The remote assessment is a maximum of one day per standard, and then following a positive recommendation, we'll issue a BSI certificate. This usually takes between 4 and 6 weeks.

Can I transfer over if my certification has expired?

If your certificate has lapsed, then you won't be able to transfer your certificate to BSI. However, we can help you get back on track by supporting you with a new application.

What if my scope has changed?

In order to transfer your certificate to BSI, your existing certification body must be accredited by an IAF accreditation body, and the details of the certification must remain unchanged.
