Food safety a priority?

BSI's Food Safety Service Offering.
Who we are

BSI believes the world should be supplied safe, quality food and we offer a broad range of Food Safety certification and risk management services.

We are the World's leading food safety certification provider, with extensive auditing capacity and capability to conduct integrated audits for a wide range of Food Safety standards across the entire food and beverage supply chain - including GFSI recognized standards.

Our service solution for food safety includes certification, training, assessment, and supply chain software, - providing you and your customers assurance and enabling you to manage risk more effectively.

Our Food Division currently services the full range of food industry clients across the entire supply chain, from large and small growers and packers to food processors, distributors, retailers, logistics operators and the hospitality industry. Our client managers provide our food industry clients with the assistance they need to implement effective food safety management systems while building strong and valued relationships.

Our auditors include some of India’s leading Food Safety experts with food industry experience who can assist your business.

Food safety management systems: what are the benefits?

- Consistency: Increased ability to produce safe, quality food products that meet specifications and customer requirements every time.

- Cost Efficiency: An efficient and effective food safety management system results in long term cost efficiency. Businesses can reduce costs by avoiding product recalls, wastage and contamination related issues.

- Due diligence: Ability to demonstrate that your business is meeting legal responsibilities in relation to food safety legislation and regulation.

- Consultation: A Food safety management system promotes involvement in the business by employees and other stakeholders, and raises awareness of food safety issues, enabling potential problems to be rectified before becoming liabilities.

- Liability: Often, insurance companies will refuse to insure businesses within the food and agricultural industry who do not have a certified food safety management system.

An effective Food Safety Program can be used as a defense in court cases relating to food poisoning or contamination as allowed by the Food Acts.
Manage your food safety risk with us

Not only does certification help establish credibility and demonstrate effective business management to stakeholders, it also helps to ensure your business is always moving forward. Your decision to become certified is a direct reflection on the importance your business places on the implementation of food safety standards.

We provide certification and assessment to the following Food Safety standards:

- BSI HACCP
- ISO 22000 - Food Safety Management Systems
- FSSC 22000 - Food Safety System Certification
- BRC Global Standard for Food Safety
- SQF
- GlobalGAP

Why BSI?

Because we know a good Food Safety Management System when we see one.

We can help give you a competitive advantage because:

We pioneered standards more than 100 years ago and today we’re the market leader. We help over 70,000 organizations ranging from top global brands to small ambitious businesses in 150 countries to gain an edge over their competition. As one of the few organizations that understand standards from start to finish, we don’t only assess how well you’re meeting them, we create new standards from scratch and train teams globally to use them and perform better. Our knowledge can transform your organization.
