International General Certificate in Occupational Health and Safety

What is it?

NEBOSH is an independent examination board which offers world-recognised qualifications designed to meet the health, safety, environmental and risk management needs of all places of work in both the private and public sectors. The International General Certificate (IGC) course is the foundation that one must achieve in order to take more advanced courses offered by NEBOSH.

Why do I need it?

The IGC course prioritizes on management systems and best practices in the context of international standards in health and safety. As a health and safety professional, taking the IGC course will help you in growing your ability to manage health and safety processes within your workplace more effectively.

Upon passing the exams, graduates will be able to join the International Institute of Risk and Safety Management (IIRSM) as an Associate Member and also as a 'Technician Member' with The Institution of Occupational Safety and Health (IOSH).

How will I benefit?

The NEBOSH IGC course will provide you with the foundation base necessary for further expansion into more industry specific health and safety courses such as "constructions", "fire" and "oil & gas".

This course will equip you with practical knowledge and best practices to setup and maintain a healthier and safer workplace.

Graduates from this course gain recognition, achievement and advanced career development as NEBOSH is a globally recognized institution for all health & safety related subjects.

What will I learn?

By attending this course, you will be able to identify common hazards and suggest suitable remedy; understand other international health and safety standards such as ISO and ILO; and also be able to assist in preparing, reviewing and monitoring safety policies, procedures, strategies and training.

The course will also explore into areas such as human and organizational factors affecting health and safety cultures in the workplace.

The NEBOSH IGC is the appropriate course for any professionals who seeks to have a formalized training in health and safety management.

How will I learn?

Quickly. We use accelerated learning techniques that encourage interaction and collaboration, keep the course varied and put your learning in context. You will go through guided study and exercises to develop the knowledge and skills required for the final assessment. Homework will be set at the end of every day, which will require 45-90 minutes study per evening.

Delegates' progress will be monitored through continuous assessment and evening work. Your tutors are the best in their field and will make sure your learning needs are met. You can choose between public or in-company courses tailored to your business – whatever delivers the most positive and successful outcome for you.

Why train with us?

We've audited thousands of businesses using the same standards so we can genuinely benchmark performance. And we can take you from beginner to certification quickly then support you with follow-up courses and webinars – and all this for the price of your course.

Did you know?

The passing rate for NEBOSH International General Certificate courses is between 69 - 70%.

What does NEBOSH qualification cover?

The International General Certificate is divided into three units, each of which is assessed separately:

- Management of international health and safety (IGC1)
- Control of international workplace hazards (IGC2)
- International health and safety practical application (IGC3)

Graduates who had completed and passed the IGC1 unit within the last five years need not repeat this unit. This gives you the flexibility to add new qualifications as your career evolves.
