

ISO 9001:2015 Best Practice Program

A step-by-step approach to get your organization ready for certification

A packaged solution to build your expertise

At BSI, we know the value ISO 9001:2015 can bring to your organization - improving efficiency, operational effectiveness and profitability. And we also know that effective implementation is key to getting the very best out of the standard.

Our combined training and gap assessment program will get your organization in the best possible shape to implement and operate ISO 9001:2015 and independently assess how ready it is for certification.

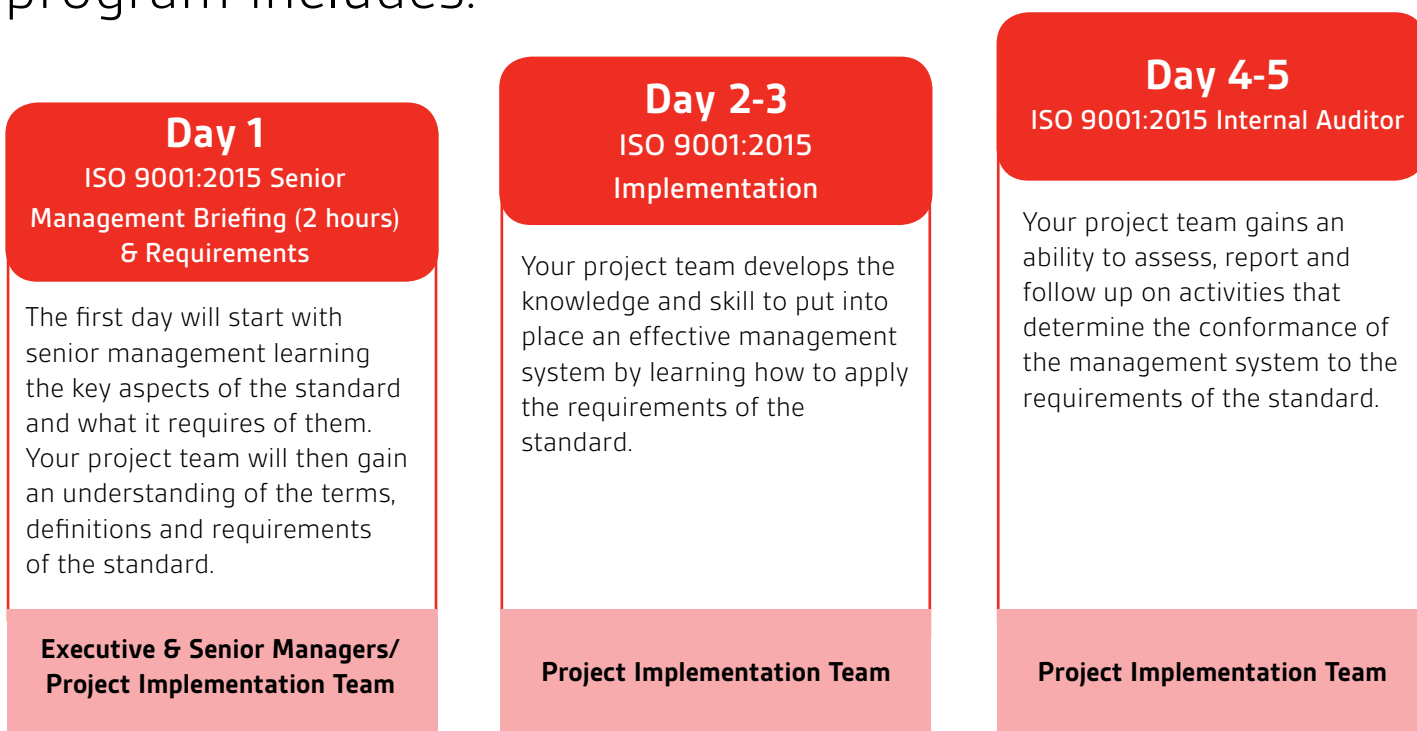

It starts with a comprehensive briefing and training program to ensure that your entire team - from senior management to individual project team members - are competent to manage and operate the new standard to the highest level.

It then allows time for your team to implement the new processes and systems of the standard and audit how effective they are using their new skills and expertise.

Finally, once your team is confident they have done their best to embed ISO 9001:2015, BSI will send an independent assessor to conduct a gap assessment and provide feedback on your readiness for certification.

It couldn't be simpler. And better still, the program is carried out at your convenience, at a location of your choice, including all the personnel you require to manage, implement and operate the standard in one go - significantly reducing overall costs.

What the on-site training and gap assessment program includes:

How will you benefit?

In-house knowledge

Your team will develop the skills to implement and maintain ISO 9001 in-house, which can help to reduce reliance on external consultants and boost operational resilience.

Increased resilience

By training your project team as a whole, you'll ensure the continuity of expertise for your organization if people leave or are promoted.

Deeper insight

Our gap assessment will help you identify any major gaps or weaknesses in your approach following the program, allowing a deeper insight into what changes and improvements need to be made.

Added value

Rather than attending each course individually, our combined solution offers a more cost effective approach saving you time and money - with the added convenience of being trained at a location of your choice.

Avoid costly mistakes

By bringing together different levels and teams across the organization, you'll embed effective performance processes and maximize the benefits of the standard.

Better engagement

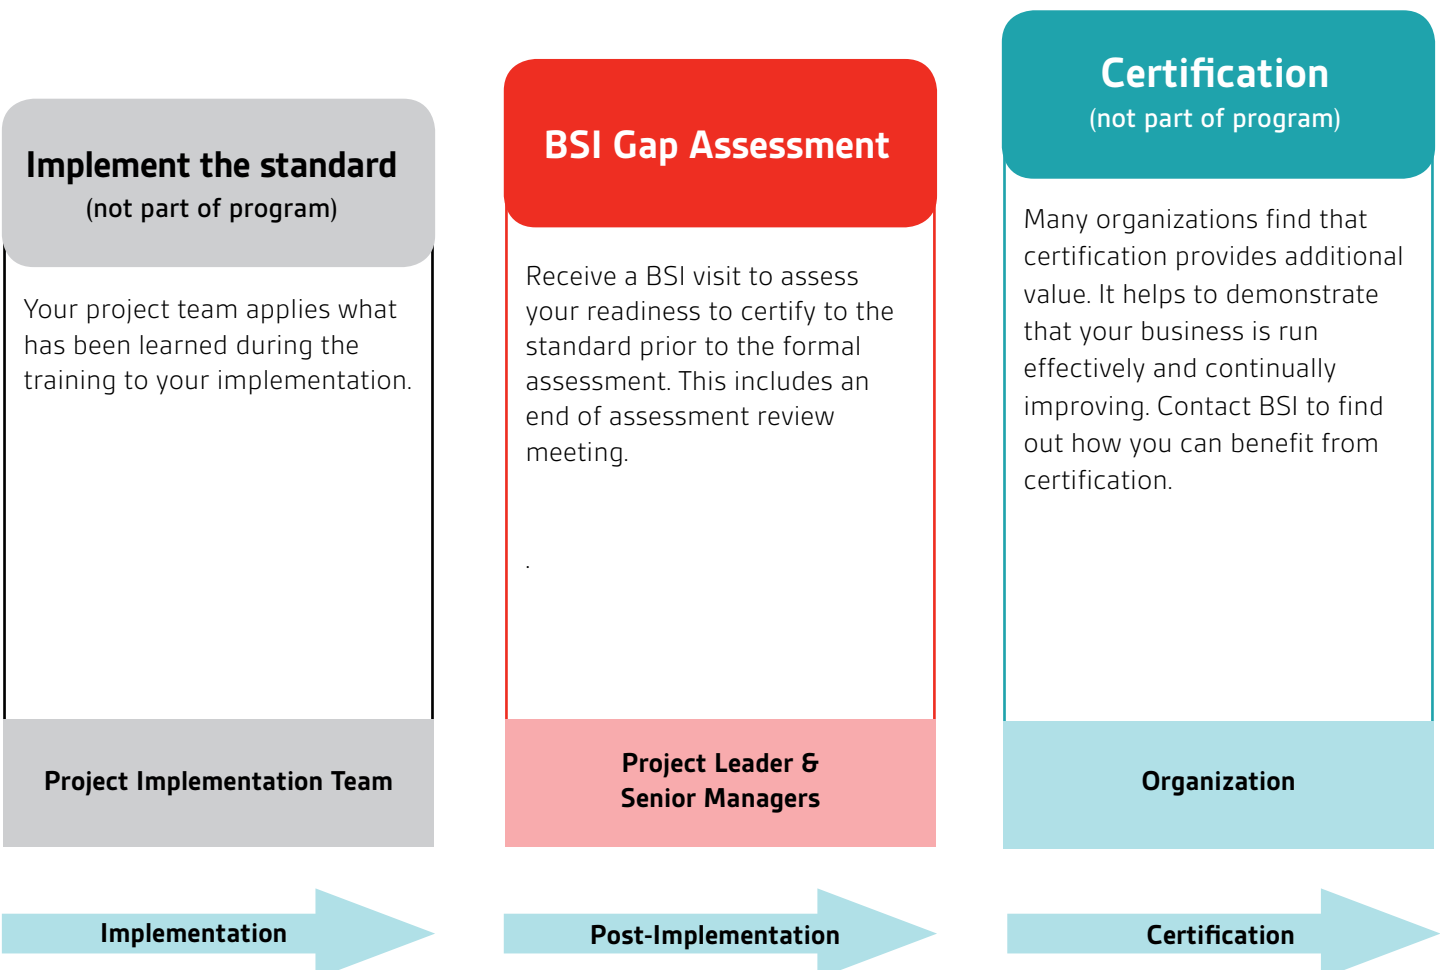

Engage with colleagues from different departments and levels. This encourages team work and provides a platform where ideas can be bounced off one another. You'll also increase awareness and understanding of each other's roles, as well as staff morale.

Enhanced flexibility

Training a project team in implementing and auditing a standard means greater flexibility in allocating implementation and auditing tasks - reducing reliance on one or two team members.

A more convenient approach

You can choose which days to hold each training session, whether its five consecutive days or split over a few weeks, you'll learn at a pace that suits you.
