ISO 45001 Implementing Changes training course

Essential information about the course

Level

ISO 45001 is the world's first ISO management system standard for Occupational Health and Safety (OH&S). Its focus on risk prevention, innovation and continual improvement will benefit organizations with the foresight to achieve this global standard through increased organizational resilience. Suitable for organizations large or small and in any industry, it is intended to replace the widely implemented BS OHSAS 18001.

If you are involved in the planning, implementing, or supervision of an ISO 45001 management system, then this course will help you to understand the key differences between BS OHSAS 18001 and ISO 45001 from an implementation perspective. You will learn how to create an action plan so that you can implement the new standard using good practice guidance. To get the most from this course, delegates should have already attended our three hour ISO 45001 migration seminar or our one day migration course.

This one day course is packed with practical activities, group discussion, and classroom learning to help you retain the knowledge to implement an effective OH&S management system. You will also learn what implementation of ISO 45001 could look like through examples which will be provided in a useful toolkit.

Our full course agenda helps you understand what to expect:
