ISO 45001 Migration: Senior (Top) Management Briefing

Essential information about the course

Level 1C

ISO 45001 is the world's first ISO management system standard for Occupational Health and Safety (OH&S). Its focus on risk prevention, innovation and continual improvement will benefit organizations with the foresight to achieve this global standard through increased organizational resilience. Suitable for organizations large or small and in any industry, it is intended to replace the widely implemented BS OHSAS 18001.

As a leader, your commitment and support is crucial to the success of your organization's Occupational Health and Safety Management System (OH&SMS). This executive-level briefing session is designed to give you a great introduction to the new standard to help you create a safer and healthier workplace. You will also learn about the specific responsibilities required of top management within this International Standard.

This interactive session is led by our expert tutors who have years of experience of working in the field of OH&S. Upon completion you will be able to develop action plans for implementing key leadership activities.

Our full course agenda helps you understand what to expect:

- Welcome and introductions
- Briefing aim and structure
 - ISO 45001 and the reasons for its development
 - OHSAS 18001 versus ISO 45001
 - Overview of the main requirements in ISO 45001
 - Context and line of sight
 - Leadership and commitment
 - Success factors, and summary of Top Management involvement
