BSI UKCA marking update

For Measuring Instruments

What is UKCA marking and how does it affect me?

The UKCA (UK Conformity Assessed) marking is the new product marking that will be required for certain products placed on the market in Great Britain (England, Wales and Scotland). It covers most products that previously required the CE marking.

The UKCA marking will come into force on 1 Jan 2021 and after 31 December 2022 only products with UKCA marking will be accepted in Great Britain.

BSI will be an approved body (0086) for UKCA marking services and we can work with you on the required conformity assessment procedures that will allow you to affix the UKCA marking.

What happens if I don't get my products UKCA marked?

Most CE marking certificates will not be recognized in Great Britain after 31 December 2022, so you may need to act now to continue to trade.

If you currently hold a CE marking certificate issued by an EU27 notified body, you will need to get a new UKCA certificate issued by a UK approved body. BSI can provide this service. You must do this before the end of 2022. After this date your CE marking certificate will no longer be valid to place products on the market in Great Britain.

If you currently hold a CE marking certificate for your product and it is issued by a UK notified body, then this certificate is likely to be transferred to a UKCA marking certificate by your current UK notified body as it will not be valid for CE marking from January 2021. If you are a BSI client with a CE marking certificate issued by our UK notified body we will automatically transfer this certificate to a UKCA marking certificate.

If you wish to continue to trade in the EU27, then you will also need to have a valid CE marking certificate issued by an EU27 notified body. (If you have a certificate that has been issued by a UK notified body it will not be recognized in EU27 countries from 1 January 2021).

What are the requirements for UKCA marking of Measuring Instruments?

At the time of writing this document from a technical perspective, the requirements between UKCA and CE marking remain the same for the time being.

This means you will need to meet the requirements of the Measuring Instruments Regulation (SI 2016/1153) as amended by The Product Safety and Metrology etc (Amendment etc)(EU Exit) Regulations 2020 (SI 2020/676).

There are further minor amendments to the above regulations which can be found at:

<https://www.legislation.gov.uk/ukxi>

You will need to update your marking details and Declarations of Conformity to address the requirements of the approved body in the UK.

How do I get a UKCA certificate?

BSI can issue UKCA marking certificates for measuring instruments (such as active electrical energy Meters, water meters, taximeters, gas meters and volume conversion devices).

If you are a current CE certificate holder and cannot obtain the UKCA mark from your current notified body, then BSI can help.

We would need to review your existing certificates used to support your CE marking.

We would need to review all existing test and audit reports that support your current CE marking certification.

We will conduct a review and determine if certification can be issued based on desk top review or if any tests or audits are required.

Once this has been reviewed and recommendation made we will issue your UKCA marking certificate.

Important: all documents must either be in English language or be provided with authenticated translations. BSI can offer an authenticated translation service if required.

Act now to preserve access to the UK market, provide reassurance to your customers, remain compliant and build resilience in your business.
