ISO 45001 Capacity building programme

ISO 45001 Capacity building programme

To be successful in today's dynamic world, organizations need to embed resilience. And there are three fundamental elements to building a resilient organization: process, product and people. At BSI Training Academy we focus on helping clients all over the world build resilience through their people.

By combining the right training and support services through our capacity building programme, we help you invest in your people. We work with you to identify the needs of your organization so your teams gain the knowledge and skills required to embed management systems and drive sustainable growth.

What is capacity building?

Capacity building is a systematic approach of knowledge and skills development. It ensures an organization has the internal expertise to effectively implement change and improve performance.

ISO 45001 is the world's first occupational health & safety (OH&S) management system standard. It helps provide a safe and healthy working environment, reduce the likelihood of accidents and demonstrate you're actively managing risks.

Implementing this globally recognized standard will help protect your workforce. And when a workforce feels safe and protected, they will be more engaged, loyal and productive. So make sure your teams have the skills to implement and operate ISO 45001 with our capacity building programme.

The benefits of capacity building:

- In-house expertise
- Enhanced flexibility and convenience
- Better engagement from your teams
- Added value to your organization

What our programme includes

Our capacity building programmes has two main phases – pre and post implementation. This involves a number of our training and support services, as well as implementation activities where you embed you learning and respond to any gaps identified. By working with BSI, your organization will gain the skills to confidently implement your management system and ensure it continually improves.

Phase one: pre-implementation

1. Assessment	2. Training			3. Client
Gap assessment: we visit to review your current system against the ISO 45001 requirements so you can see where your gaps are	ISO 45001 Awareness for top management	ISO 45001 Interpretation and application	Understanding of OH&S management systems processes	Develop documented information and ensure leadership approval
	ISO 45001 Strategic approach to risk-based thinking	OH&S risk assessment (Based on ISO 45001)	Occupational health and safety laws interpretation and application

4. Assessment	5. Training	6. Client
Desk top assessment: we assess the readiness of your documentation against ISO 45001 prior to system implementation	ISO 45001 awareness for staff	Implement the standard

Phase two: post-implementation

1. Training	2. Client	3. Assessment
ISO 45001 Internal auditor	Conduct an internal audit and management review	Pre-certification assessment: we visit to assess your readiness to certify to the standard, including an end of assessment review so you can see how ready you are
