

From farm to fork... ISO 22000 has it covered

ISO 22000 is the international standard suitable for your organization, regardless of size in the food chain, to consistently provide safe products. It maps out what you need to do to demonstrate your ability to control food safety hazards, ensuring that food is safe.

Building on the widely renown ISO 9001 Quality Management, ISO 22000 Food Safety Management requires you to:

- Plan, implement and operate a food safety management system
- Demonstrate compliance with statutory and regulatory food safety requirements
- Ensure that your organization conforms to your food safety policy
- Proactively communicate with all key stakeholders to understand their needs and ensure they are advised of any variances

Independent third party certification to ISO 22000 ensures the system continues to work effectively, ensuring the safety of food and provides tangible benefits including:

- Improved stakeholder confidence – food safety is actively managed in the organization and the procedures are effective and robust
- Leadership position – demonstrates your commitment to food safety
- Improved performance – ensures continual improvement through systematic reviews
- Improved compliance – meet legal requirements and best practice standards
- Brand protection – by mitigating risks and threats
- Competitive advantage – generate new business and gain market access through improved reputation
